

I Couldn't Disagree More

- 'I Couldn't Disagree More' is a useful and quick game that can help students practice rebuttal techniques and helps develop the ability to deal with points of information.
- One pupil makes a statement (this statement could be serious, silly, topical, controversial or obvious). The next person has to reply to the statement by saying 'I couldn't disagree more' and then give a reason why.

Activity

1. Group Students: Divide students into groups of 3-4.
2. Make a Statement: The first student makes a serious statement.
  - a. Example: "I believe that the government should reduce funding for education."
3. Rebuttal: The next student replies with, "I couldn't disagree more," and provides a reason why they disagree.
  - a. Example: "I couldn't disagree more. Education is vital for the development of society, and reducing funding will harm future generations."
4. Continue: Each student takes turns making a statement and giving a rebuttal.
5. Rotate: The first student will make a rebuttal to the last student.

Point Of Information Game

- The Point of Information Game helps improve communication and critical thinking. The speaker defends a controversial topic, while the class asks questions by saying "Point of Information." The speaker can accept or decline questions, promoting quick thinking, rebuttal skills, and public speaking confidence.

Point of Information Game

Activity

- 1. We need 3 volunteers to be speakers.
- 2. Each speaker will prepare a short speech.
- 3. After 5 minutes of preparation, each speaker will deliver their speech one by one.
- 4. During their speech, we will play the Point of Information game.